

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 28, 1911.

The Hon. J. C. Townes was called to the chair, assisted by Col. Jno. S. Goodrich, Dr. Wm. Walkden, and Jno. Robinson, Esq. as Vice Presidents, and S. A. Harburt, P. A. in Torrey and Henry C. King, Esqs. were appointed Secretaries. A preamble and resolution were adopted adhering to the principles of the Union, promulgated in 1853, approving of a National Bank, sustaining and extolling the Hon. Wm. C. Preston in the Senate of the Union, denouncing the recent attempt to instruct the Senator or to compel his resignation and in favor of a distribution of the proceeds of the public lands among all the States of our Union, were prepared and eloquently advocated by L. Pettigrew, Esq. and unanimously adopted by the meeting.

After the adoption of the preamble and resolutions, the meeting was addressed by the Hon. Wm. C. Preston and the Hon. Hugh S. Legare who welcomed and delighted the attentive and applauding audience with an eloquence of the highest order, at least convincing all that heard them that the Whigs of South Carolina were justly entitled to the title of the "Greatest Order of both the State and the Republic. Col. F. F. Johnson, Esq. was elected Secretary and his report and other resolutions of his

President, by George Putnam, of Roxbury, Mass.

"Beloved, if ever, a better, who there was a great ruler, here or else here, who has not clearly grasped and in his own course more constantly exemplified the truth, that the moral law is the first lesson of wise statesmanship, and the only sound basis of a nation's permanent peace and prosperity, than our late lamented chief? Deny to him the possession of shining talents, if you will. I only care to know that he was a good understanding and a warm heart, he added that principle of reason, which makes a man a man, a man of talent, as often as genius, shrewdly than cunning, the truest sagacity, the soundest judgment, the most alert and unerring eye, a man of power in a private or public life. Here, as I have said, by the chief of the President, in his own life and his country's service. It is for this and I have seen him, and but for his own would have been a man of the greatest talents and a great man."

She lived in her desolate house, without a friend, which her good husband had left her. It was a pleasant house, and looked upon a pleasant garden. There were herbs, and alubrious plants, and flowers, and in profusion; but what is all the luxury of sweets to those who mourn for the departed? Who kept those birds so dean, that not even a weed intruded? Her good man. No, she had only left her knowledge, which followed her steps when she walked in that pleasant garden. There were those who thought she needed a protection and a friend; and when they fast in the woods the many who could supply her need, they could not for her but in asking among the less,
 that if very queer she should remain
 to a lonely life.

She had a heart that was kind and brave and was not a little of the more and her heart was not the ever true. Her from her, a small boy carried with him the that in his life. His was a good in any of her ways. Her ways were

E. F. DUREN.
 May 27.
 SID JAM. V-TAY'S J.L.H.
 BEACON IA.
 This mild, safe, and elegant Anti-acid and Aperient, possesses all the properties of the
 H. to form dangerous concretions in the stomach.
 It corrects acidity and essentially cures heartburn,
 May 28.

25,000

O. H. INGALLS & CO.

Jwd

G. W. LADD.

